Goodman To Play Tonight At I. F. C. In Hotel Statler

Large Crowd Is Expected To Fill Floor and Balcony Completely

Goodman Quartet Will Play Several Specialty Numbers

Orchestra Stand and Ballroom Have Been Decorated For Occasion

Tonight brings the long awaited Interfraternity Council dance and the music of Benny Goodman and his orchestra who have just terminated a long engagement in the Hotel Penn in New York City.

On the eve of the dance the fraternities are apparently well satisfied with the tickets and tables allotted them. Tables have been placed in the balcony as well as surrounding the floor, while extra chairs are to be distributed about to accommodate those unable to secure tables. The dorms also seem to have obtained enough tickets from friends in fraternities to allow those who really care to go, to attend the dance this evening. There has been much activity among the fraternities in anticipation of the

Goettingen Protest Is Reported Signed By 300 Petitioners

Institute's Move In Accepting Invite To German Fete Is Opposed

Over three hundred signatures have been gathered in a period of three days to a petition protesting against the Institute's policy in accepting an invitation to send a representative to the two hundredth anniversary celebration of Goettingen University in Germany, circulators of the document claimed last night.

The Nazi celebration, at which Technology will be represented by Werner Schaurte '14, prominent German industrialist is to be held this summer. It has provoked much discussion at the Institute, on other campuses, and throughout the nation's press. A number of prominent schools, both here and abroad including Yale, Princeton, and Cambridge, have declined to send representatives.

The text of the petition is as follows: "As students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, we protest against the policy of the Institute in accepting the invitation to attend the Goettingen University's two hundredth anniversary celebration. Remembering last year's fete at Heidelberg which was turned into a meeting for the dissemination of Nazi propaganda, we feel that to send a delegate is to condone the acts and practices of the forces now controlling Germany and its educational institutions. There is every indication that this celebration will be a repetition of the one at Heidelberg which aroused such a storm of protest from the academic world . . ."

"Technology, by immediately accepting the invitation, supports the policy and methods of those who say, 'we have in German Universities today but one enemy—the so-called free student . . .'. We protest against the recognition of a group that no longer upholds the ideas basic to true learnings and research."

Walker Memorial Elections Approved By Inst. Comm.

Recent elections to the Walker Memorial Committee, approved at the Institute Committee meeting last night include Frank J. Kearney, '38, Lloyd B. Magruder, Jr., '39, and Wiley F. Corl, Jr., '39.

In addition, C. Kingsland Coombs, '38, was appointed chairman of the Elections Committee of the Institute Committee, and John A. Wilson, Jr., '38, appointed to the Elections Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James M. Gillis, '38. Dale F. Morgan, '38, was announced as the chairman of next year's Faculty-Student Curriculum Committee.

Elections to the Nautical Association, also approved last night, include John C. Proctor, '38, commodore, Herman H. Hanson, '39, vice-commodore, and Wendell H. Calkins, '38, secretary-treasurer.

Peace Conference Is Well Attended

Five Speakers Present Views On Avoiding War Before Two Meetings

Nearly six hundred students crowded into room 10-250 on Tuesday at 11 o'clock to hear five speakers discuss various phases of the problems of peace. All classes were dismissed for the meeting, which was sponsored by The Tech, Tech Union, Scabbard and Blade, the T. C. A., the A. S. U. and the Institute Committee. Following the meeting, an informal discussion session, attended by approximately seventy-five students, was held in room 4-270.

At the main meeting, Chairman John J. Wallace, '38, introduced the speakers who were, in order, Dr. Henry J. Cadbury, of Harvard, Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Stahle of the Military Science Department, Phil Frankfield, J. Lester Hankins, and Leonard Cronkhite. Dr. Cadbury discussed the point of view of the conscientious objector.

5.15 Club Will Aid Seagoing Fishermen

Deep-Sea Fishing Excursion To Take Place May 8

Fun and fish will prevail at the Deep-Sea Excursion to be held Saturday, May 8, under the auspices of the 5.15 Club. At 2:30, the motorship "Lois Corkum" will leave T-wharf and proceed 18 miles out to sea, where nautically minded Institute staff members and students, supplied with line and bait, may vie for the honor of hooking the biggest batch of cod, haddock, or pollock; with which the region abounds.

The hunger of the technical fishermen will be appeased by servings of free fish chowder until the end of the cruise at 8:00 p. m. Tickets, which are limited to seventy five, will cost $1.35, and may be obtained from any member of the 5.15 Smoker Committee.

On the Smoker Committee are: George Rosenfeld, '39, chairman. Joseph Zallen, '39; William Widlanski, '39; Cornelius R. Andrews, '39; Arthur S. Grossman, '39; Leo A. Kiley, '39; Albert C. Rugo, '39; Stephen S. Sullivan, '39; Sydney S. Gesmer, '39; and Russell T. Werby, '40.

Because of the limited number of tickets available, preference will be given to 5.15 Club members.

Institute Committee Sets Aside $45.55 for Activity Directory

Freshman Tie Money to be Used

Frederick J. Kolb, '38, was elected chairman of the 1938 Open House Committee at the meeting of the Institute Committee held last night. In addition, $45.55 was appropriated for the use of the Walker Memorial Committee in purchasing a directory of student activities.

Although the Open House Committee which Kolb will head next year is not a sub-committee of the Institute Committee, it will be directly responsible to it. Its personnel will consist of five members, one of whom, the chairman of exhibits, will be the president of the Combined Professional Societies. The C. P. S. will have no other direct relation to the Open House group.

Senior Week Planned With Ball At Statler To Climax Graduation

Hotel Continental Secured For Senior Banquet On June Fourth

Free beer is the novel attraction offered to those who sign-up at the Senior Bar starting on May 3, for any of the events comprising Senior Week, it was announced by Walter Blake, '37, publicity chairman. "Perhaps root beer but still beer," Blake conceded under pressure this afternoon.

The chief events of Senior Week and their dates are as follows: June 4, the Senior Banquet to be held at the Hotel Continental; June 5, Pops Concert at Symphony Hall with Arthur Fieldler conducting; June 6, Baccalaureate at the Old South Church with an address by President Compton; June 7, Class Day; at which announcement of senior ballots will be made to be followed by a Tea Dance in Walker Memorial; June 8, Graduation, the Presidents Reception, A Tea Dance, and the Senior Ball in the Hotel Statler in the evening.

A blanket subscription covering all events to be held during Senior Week can be purchased for $10.50, a saving of $2.00, at the Senior Bar in the Main Lobby by buying an option for $5.00, which may be redeemed until the first of June. The price of the Senior Ball, alone, for which the orchestra has not yet been announced, is $7.50.

This year the Class of 1937, although reverting to previous procedure, is attempting a slightly more ambitious program than classes of previous years. With affairs at two of the most prominent Boston Hotels, The Continental and the Statler, the Class is evidently trying to hold a Senior Week which will leave an excellence mark for classes of the future to shoot at.

Colonel B. O. Lewis Lectures On Ordnance

Testing At Aberdeen Grounds Shown With Pictures

Colonel B. O. Lewis, head of Automotive Technical Development in the Ordnance Department of the United States Army, spoke before an audience of Institute staff and student members and visiting military officers last Tuesday evening. In a public meeting sponsored by the Combined Professional Societies, Colonel Lewis discussed "The Development of Automotive Vehicles in the Ordnance Department."

Illustrating his talk with both slides and motion pictures, the Colonel, who is at present Commanding Officer at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds described the rigid tests to which army tanks, tractors, and scout cars are subjected at Aberdeen. Pictures were shown of vehicles plowing through sand, mud, water, snow, climbing sixty degree grades, with heavy loads leaping eight foot gaps, going in and out of thirty-foot deep shell holes.

Present at the lecture were Colonel Stahle, Head of the military Science Department at the Institute, and Colonels Sears and Monahan executive officers of the First Corps Area. The meeting, held in Room 10-250, was the last public lecture of the season.

FORTY FIVE DOLLARS

COULD BE BETTER SPENT

IN explaining the purchase by the Walker Memorial Committee of a forty-five dollar directory of student activities Robert Y. Jordan stated, at the Institute Committee meeting last night, that this was a "good use" for part of the one hundred dollars obtained from the purchase of freshman ties last fall.

In making this statement, Jordan, a member of the Executive committee of the Institute Committee, was undoubtedly expressing the sentiments of the other members of that group, which controls, or at least suggests, the activity of our undergraduate governing body.

Without considering whether the directory is worth the money paid for it, we must still question the spirit which prompted its purchase. Jordan's words indicated that no better use could be made of the money from freshman tie sales. If, as he suggests, this one hundred dollars is burning the pockets of our solons, it would seem that the money could be put to much more worthy uses than that approved by the Institute Committee last night. Or, perhaps, the price of the freshman ties might be reduced.

ORGANIZATION

WINS ELECTIONS

THE results of Wednesday's class elections show that in the absence of any specific issues a strong political organization can sweep the class elections here without much difficulty. The two lower classes were examples of this. In both the winning faction had worked hard to organize its voters, and were rewarded by a clean sweep in the elections. In both cases, the winning groups were fraternity groups, unlike most elections of the past few years, in which the loosely organized dormitories had generally beaten fraternity groups because of splits among the latter.

It is unfortunate that political factions at the Institute are organized wholly on the basis of residence. Ability has little to do with selection. That is probably the reason Institute Committee meetings are so dull and generally accomplish so little. Class representatives are mostly yes-men when it comes to voting, and activity representatives are generally interested only in their own pet projects. Sharp differences of opinion are so rare that they stand out as landmarks in the memory of those who attend meetings regularly. Part of the reason is undoubtedly the manner of choosing candidates.

Technology could do with a little real electioneering. If candidates would take as issues in the election some of the disputed actions of the Institute Committee, for example, voters might be to pick their representatives intelligently, instead of voting blindly for the candidate for whom their residential group is working. And selection of candidates might be put on a higher plane than at present, where ability to defeat the other group's candidate, and friendliness to his own group are the chief considerations.

MORE REFUSALS

FOR GOETTINGEN ANNIVERSARY

OPPOSITION to Technology's action in accepting the invitation to send a representative to Goettingen University's anniversary celebration was strengthened by two events last week. First, there have come the announcements of Yale and Princeton that they are refusing similar bids, and second, there has been the immediate response of Institute students to a petition, protesting the school's policy which has gathered over three hundred names in less than three days.

Although three hundred signatures do not represent too large a portion of the student body, we feel that in view of the fact that it has been circulating only a very short time the petition represents a commendable spirit on the part of thinking Tech men. It answers the often heard statement that students at an engineering school are not aware of the social and political questions of the day.

The Goettingen celebration is not essentially in the nature of a scientific meeting to which we will send a group of professors to exchange technological information and ideas. It will, instead, merely resolve itself into a Nazi celebration at which the Institute, according to present plans, will be formally represented by a prominent German industrialist who is a Technology alumnus. Goettingen still has a fine reputation for its scholarship, but the Nazi authorities planning the celebration care little for scholarship.

We oppose the Institute's policy on the ground that in accepting the Nazi invitation, we are condoning the present educational situation in Germany. We are celebrating the fact that educational freedom and the search for truth unhindered by political and racial bigotry hardly exists in a portion of the globe. In lending the name of a leading American scientific school to the Goettingen fete, we are placing a feather in the cap of the educational gangsters and intellectual traitors who control the present German system of schooling.

Acceptance of this invitation is more than a courtesy from one institution to another, as statements of the Nazi officials themselves show. In many of his past actions Dr. Compton has shown a liberal mind. We hope he will retract or modify Technology's support of the Nazi festival.

OPEN FORUM

Editor, The Tech: In last Tuesday's Tech, there was a report that the TCA was considering reestablishing "Tech in Turkey."

The support of an instructor on the staff of Robert College in Turkey had to be given up in 1932 due to the depression. It is a type of work which should be reestablished as soon as possible. Why not start this year?

It was my good fortune, upon graduation, to spend one year at "Yale in China." It was a great experience and gave me the opportunity to see the results of such work at first hand. It is extremely worth while, and every member of a college benefits by the mere fact that such work is being supported by a large part of the student body, staff, and alumni.

Such a movement serves to further the good will between other nations and the United States, and it is a definite step which Tech can take toward promoting world peace. Many colleges have been carrying on such work for years, and all have added greatly to their prestige both at home and abroad because of their interest in the development of higher education in other lands.

By all means, let us reestablish "Tech in Turkey."

Yours truly,

A. D. FISKEN.

Rowe Memorial Race Here Tomorrow

Rutgers, Harvard Vie With Beavers For Rowe Trophy

Varsity, Jayvees, Lightweight, Freshmen Race At Tech For First Time

Large I.F.C. Crowd Expected

Tech crews take to the water again tomorrow when they play host to Harvard and Rutgers in the first running of the Rowe Memorial Regatta. An I. F. C. weekend crowd of several thousand spectators will watch the races.

The meet will start at 3 o'clock with the freshman race between Tech and the Crimson. At successive half hours the 150 pound varsity race between Tech and Harvard, and the junior varsity race, in which Rutgers will also take place, will be run. The Regatta finishes with the main event, the varsity race, at 4.30.

Varsity in Good Condition

The Beaver varsity boat will be the same one that raced in the Lake Carnegie meet last weekend. The men are in good condition and ought to profit by the experience from the Compton Cup Races. The Crimson boat is a powerful aggregation that broke the Lake Carnegie course record last week. They are a heavy boat with experience and a beautiful rowing style. The strength of the Rutgers crew is unknown as this Regatta marks the first time a Scarlet boat is racing in intercollegiate competition; the sport has just been revived at the New Jersey college. What is known, however, is that they were coached for three years by the able Ned Ten Eyck and that they defeated Manhattan College in an informal meet last Saturday.

150-Pounders Likely Victor

The varsity lightweighters are being watched with great interest after winning that superb high stroking duel against Princeton.

The Beaver junior varsity will get another try at the Crimson after the latter walked away with the honor at Princeton. Again a little known Rutgers boat is entered.

Outside of the lightweighters the yearling crew seems like the most likely to turn in a victory. The frosh are very heavy for a Tech boat and are improving by leaps and bounds. They put up a fine battle at Lake Carnegie and with one well fought race under their belt ought to turn in a good race tomorrow. They are racing a Crimson crew which has had little experience in intercollegiate racing.

Point System Determines Victor

The magnificent silver trophy cup was given by the late Charles Hayden, '90 in memory of Dr. Allan Winter Rowe, the developer of rowing at Tech. The varsity and jayvees races will be over a distance of a mile and three quarters while the frosh and lightweighters will race a mile and five sixteenths. The races will begin in front of the Tech boathouse and will end near the Longfellow Bridge necessitating passing under the Har-

The winner of the trophy is determined by a point system. The varsity is allotted 10 points for first place, 6 for second and 3 for third. The jayvees will be given 8 for first, 5 for second, and 2 for third. The 150 pounders will get 6 points for first, 4 for second and 1 for third.

The probable Tech line-ups are:
Varsity—Bow—Weir, 2—Pierce, 3—Hammell, 4—Chapin, 5—Hagerty, 6—Glacken, 7—Wilson, Stroke—Coombs, Cox—French.

Dartmouth Stickmen Rout Beavers, 18-1

Lacrosse Team Meets Williams On Coop Field Saturday

Completely outclassed by a superior aggregation, the Tech lacrosse team was crushed by the Dartmouth stickmen by the count of 18-1 last Wednesday afternoon. Thirteen Beaversmen made the trip to New Hampshire to engage in the New England League Contest.

The fast, experienced Green team played havoc with the Engineers defense. Led by Harris and Pickering, who scored four goals apiece, the Indians stepped out in front after a few minutes play and led by a 12-0 score at the half. Three minutes after the start of the final period the Tech stickmen tallied their only goal when Bob De Raismes scored after a pile-up in front of the Green goal.

The Beavers opened the season with a tie against the Boston Lacrosse Club, 5-5; were overwhelmed by Springfield, 18-0 and nosed out by Brown 9-8; defeated Tufts 7-4; and lost to New Hampshire 6-1 previous to the Dartmouth game. Next Saturday they meet Williams on the Coop field. The boys from western Massachusetts are reputed to be fast and to be good stick holders.

The probable line-up for tomorrow's game will be as follows:

Varsity Meets Bates; Frosh Oppose Tufts To Inaugurate Track

Team of Experienced Runners Will Open Season Here Tomorrow

With the varsity meeting Bates Saturday afternoon and the freshmen meeting Tufts freshmen this afternoon, the Institute spring track season is slated to open with a bang this weekend.

The varsity meet will see a number of experienced men go into action, even though the squad has a large number of sophomores on it. The team will be led by Henry Guerke, New England mile champion and runner up for the Intercollegiate two mile championship. Carlton and Klitgord will head the contingent of sprinters; Cooper is expected to star in the half mile and Sabi in the quarter mile.

Hamilton in High Jump

In addition to these men, the Institute team is rounded out by such men as Campbell and Hutchinson in the half mile, Marshall in the mile, and Al Faatz in the hurdles. Coach Hedlund practically concedes supremacy in most of the field events to the Bates team. However with John Hamilton in the high jump, in which he has been doing about 5 feet 10 inches; Luther Kites in the pole vault, and in the broad jump, where he has been doing around 22 feet, the Tech squad should put up stiff competition in those events.

Ed Brittenham has shown the best stuff so far in the Discus, and Feirreira and Schneider are Tech's hopes in the Shot put. Brewer will heave

Golfers Meet Purple At Oakley Tomorrow

Sullivan Leads Team Into Fight Looking For Second Win

In the third meeting of the season, Technology's golfers will oppose Holy Cross at the Oakley Country Club tomorrow at 3. The recent rainy weather has prevented the team from practicing but with the experience of two matches, their chances are excellent.

Captain Paul Sullivan, who had a low score of 75 in the Colby meet, will lead the team into action playing in one two ball match and then teaming with Lloyd Ewing in a four ball match. Ewing, the team's playing manager, will play the other two ball match. Robert Sessier and Charles Wetterer will play the other four ball match.

The team has a record, at present, of one victory and one setback. They dropped the opening match to Tufts by a 4½ to 1½ count; coming through against Colby last week by the tune of 4-2. After Holy Cross they meet Amherst and Brown and then go to the Intercollegiate finishing up against Worcester College.

the javelin and Treat and Steere sling the hammer.

Yearlings Strength Unknown

The freshman squad is so far a more or less unknown quality, but its meet with Tufts will bring out what kind of material it has. Coach Hedlund is entering a large number in each event. Loomis, Kyllonen, and Hodgson are expected to star in the sprints; Clark and Artz in the quarter; Laminsky, Rushard, and Gunaris in the half; Wirth and Crosby in the mile. George Coorsen and Jackson Nichols are the best hopes in the high hurdles. Coorsen will also compete in the high jump, where Lang is Tech's best hope, and in the Broad jump, where Tech's best men are Shill and Kyllonen.

In the field events, Libby in the hammer, Hoffman and Crawford in the discus, Hellur and Hogman in the javelin, and Crawford and Hoffman in the shot seem to be the most likely point scorers for Tech.

Interfraternity Regatta Begins On Sunday Afternoon

The popularity and growth of sailing at the Institute has reached such proportions that the Inter Fraternity Conference will hold a series of four interfraternity races on Sunday to determine the fraternity sailing champ. The winning fraternity will receive a large cup while to the winning crews will go a set of smaller cups. The runner-up crews will be given a set of cigarette cases.

The four races will feature entries from about twenty fraternities, each fraternity entering two crews. In that way each race will be divided into divisions, and the winner of the tourney determined by the fraternity compiling the highest score.

Independent Sluggers To Play Initial Game

For its first game, the Independent baseball team will play against the Cambridge A. A. Saturday at the Coop field. Final practice before the game will come tonight.

The Independent schedule is not yet complete, and some difficulty is being found in doing so. Northeastern, for one, remembering the variegated uniforms of last year, has refused to play with the team unless regular uniforms are obtained. The Harvard J. V.'s, however, have already agreed to play on May 11.

Interclass baseball has been hard hit by inclement weather, and two of the games selected thus far have been called off because of rain.

dent Curriculum Committee, headed at present by Walter T. Blake, '37, a sub-group of the Institute Committee was tabled until next week. Discussion favored a closer relation to the faculty through such a subsidiary group. The present group, not officially represented on the Institute Committee, is at present working on the question of the freshman physical training course. A report will be presented at the next Institute Committee meeting.

A motion to approve the constitution of a Technology chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was tabled until the next meeting. The issue at hand was the presence of another undergraduate chemistry group, the Chemical Society. Proposals were made that the present Society be merged with the one proposed last night.

forthcoming dance. Several fraternities have planned buffet suppers prior to the dance while others are holding dances on Saturday evening chiefly for the men who have invited girls from home.

To most of the Benny Goodman enthusiasts, the high spot of the evening will be the appearance of the famous quartet, famous for its many recordings. Lights will be turned down, and the spotlight will be directed at Teddy Wilson at the piano, Gene Krupa on the drums, Hampton on the vibraphone, and Benny, himself, on the clarinet for one of their famous recordings. Dancing will not be permitted while the quartet is performing.
